GIRL-BRIDE, NOTED BEAUTY, SLAIN

FIND VICTIM DEAD IN BED RESULT OF SHOOTING

Husband, in Hospital With Both Legs Cut Off, Being Questioned

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 18.—A bloody finger-print found on a mantel cover, was the main clue upon which detectives were working this afternoon to solve the mysterious slaying of Mrs. Julia Coyne, a girl-bride of several months, at her home in Port Perry, near Braddock, this county. The woman, noted for her beauty in the Braddock region, was found dead in her home by her father, John Conroy. The bedroom of the three room cottage was a scene of confusion. The woman lay nude on her bed shot through the head.

Detectives searching the house found a revolver in a bolster slip under the head of the girl. One chamber was empty, the officer said. It was identified as belonging to Patrick Coyne, 36 years old, husband of the woman. In a pocket of Coyne's coat, hanging in a cupboard, detectives found four loaded and two empty shells of the same calibre as the revolver. Two other empty shells were found in the grate.

Husband Loses Legs
The husband, with both legs cut off last night by a freight train, lies close to death in a Pittsburgh hospital. County detective Michael Veraky is at the hospital to question the husband. Other detectives are investigating the husband's accident.

One bullet killed the woman, a coroner's deputy said. Around her arm was a string of rosary beads. Detectives take the view that she died pleading and praying that her life be spared.

At the hospital this afternoon Coyne told a deputy coroner he purchased the revolver three weeks ago and had target practice several times since then. On Monday night he missed it, and hasn't seen it since.

American Women Getting Flat-Chested, Knock-Kneed From Athletics, Is Claim

BERKELEY, Cal., July 18.—American women are getting flat-chested and knock-kneed as a result of indulgence in athletics, and "the worst is yet to come." Lecturing scores of pretty schoolma'ams attending the summer session of the University of California here, Dr. Robert Tait McKenzie, author sculptor and a leader in physical education, declared "over-indulgence in athletics is rapidly diminishing the beauty, grace and form of the average American woman."

Will Ignore Demand For Extra Session

SEWARD, Alaska, July 18.—The proposal of United States Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa to demand a special session of congress to deal with farm legislation will not meet with administration approval. It was understood that so far as President Harding is concerned, he does not look with favor upon any plan to call congress into session prior to the regular session.

Hunt Watchman's Body In Burned Mill Ruins

PORTLAND, Ore., July 18.—Search is being made today of the ruins of the Pacific Flaming Mill company to determine if Andrew Eagle, day watchman, lost his life in the $100,000 fire which last night destroyed the plant and burned five houses and a stable. Eagle frequently slept at the mill and is believed to have perished.

The anatomical measurements of 800 university women proved this statement. Taking the average measurements of this group of women we were able to draw with mathematical accuracy the figure of a woman, with the result that we got both a knock-kneed and a flat-chested woman."

HARDING AND PARTY JOIN TRANSPORT

President Plans to Rest and Perhaps Catch Some Fish for Dinner

By GEO. R. HOLMES
For International News Service
SEWARD, Alaska, July 18.—Back on the transport Henderson after his interior trip, President Harding planned to rest and may do some fishing during the day, the opportunity being afforded by the day's enforced lay-over in Seward in order to allow Secretary Hoover and Secretary Work to catch up from Anchorage where they have been listening to Alaska's grievances concerning departmental policies.

The members of the presidential party were pulling for the fishing trip, jocularly suggesting that it probably was his only hope of getting a fish dinner. Alaska is probably the greatest fish and game territory extant, yet in his ramblings heretofore he has yet to be banqueted on fish and game. Instead the Alaskans have been out-doing themselves to provide the presidential table with things from the "outside" which are luxuries to them. The Hardings have eaten more canned stuff in the past two weeks than in the previous six months.

President Not Worried About G. O. P. Defeat

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT HARDING IN ALASKA, July 18.—President Harding learned today of the defeat of Governor J. A. O. Preus in the Minnesota senatorial election. While he declined formal comment he evidently was keenly disappointed. It is understood the president, however, does not regard the victory of Magnus Johnson, farmer-labor candidate, as a slap at the administration, he considering the campaign there largely fought on local issues and the Minnesota Republicans chiefly to blame for their own defeat.

BRITISH NOTE READY FOR GERMANY

Proposes Commission to Fix Indemnity; Pressure Put on France

LONDON, July 18.—Lord Curzon, British foreign secretary, is expected to communicate the contents of the British reparations note to the German ambassador, Herr St. Hammer, when they confer this evening. A cabinet meeting was to have been held this afternoon to consider the reparations issue, but it was postponed until tomorrow. The postponement gave rise to belief that new representations were being made to France and England.

The British note has been completed. It is comparatively short, outlining the British proposals with the utmost brevity. It proposes an international commission to fix the sum of German indemnity, but proposes additional safeguards for France to guarantee German payments.

May Make Concessions
It is understood Belgium is bringing additional pressure upon France in an effort to weaken the stern program of the Paris government.

Steel Passenger Cars to Be In Use; Plans for Depot Under Way

By ARTHUR SHERBORNE
Of The Evening News Staff

EQUIPMENT is being ordered this week for the electrification of the Union Pacific's line on Glendale avenue by the Glendale & Montrose Railway Company.

P. L. Hatch, superintendent of the railway, stated this morning that the necessary installations would be made with all dispatch. He added that it is hoped to have the line in operation by the first of the year.

Although the application for the franchise to operate an exchange track at the connection between the steam and electric line for the transfer of freight cars, has not been officially granted by the Los Angeles City Council, the Glendale & Montrose Railway Company feels that there is now no question of its approval.

Indorsement of this application was made Monday afternoon by the public utilities committee of the Los Angeles City Council. Yesterday morning it came up before the Los Angeles City Council as a whole, which signified that it would approve it as soon as City Attorney Jesse Stephens should prepare and present the necessary ordinance.

Seeks Locomotive
W. A. Mulligan of 321 East Chestnut street, mechanical superintendent for the Glendale & Montrose railway, is expected to leave tonight for Toronto to investigate the possibility of purchasing an electric locomotive from the Canadian government. Mr. Hatch has been given to understand that several locomotives built for use during the war are now on sale. He asserted that his company is not only interested in the reduction in price, but also in the fact that immediate delivery will be possible. He has been informed that the shortest length of time in which one can be built to order would be six months.

Three forty-foot steel $12,000 passenger cars have been ordered by telegram from the American Car company of St. Louis. Their capacity will be fifty-three passengers. Entrances and exits will be on the right side at the front end and on the left side at the rear end. As the line is single-track, it will be possible to have the fares collected at the rear entrance by a conductor or by the motorman.

Negotiations are being closed this week for the purchase of a 300-kilowatt generator from either the Westinghouse Electric company or the General Electric company—depending upon which (Continued on page 8)

The guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Don Mertons of Riverside, Miss Silvia Weeden of Seattle, Wash., and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Doran of Los Angeles, and Noble Wible of Indianapolis, who is the house guest of the Beggs.

Successful Dance

Great success is reported from the sport dance and card party given last night at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse by the Shakespeare section of the club. There was a large group of dancers, as well as eleven tables of five hundred and bridge.

Mesdames B. O. Holbrook and F. S. Card had charge of the card tables, while Mesdames H. C. Vandewater and H. Lee Clotworthy received at the door. Mrs. Walter W. Jones, curator, was general chairman.

Plan for Dance

The Glendale Community Service organization, which is promoting various social activities for the young people of the community is entertaining on Thursday night, July 26, at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse with a summer dance, announces Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, general chairman of the dance committee.

The first dance given under the auspices of the organization last month proved to be such an enjoyable affair, an unusually large attendance is anticipated for Thursday night. On account of the large numbers who will attend this affair, Mrs. Hutchinson announces that all those who wish to attend the dance must sign up at the Community Service headquarters for membership, and secure admittance cards. If they have not already done so, each member is entitled to one guest whose name must be turned in at the headquarters and guest card procured. The executive committee has decided this would be the best method of checking up on the number of members and guests who will attend the affair.

Mrs. Hutchinson announces at this time chairmen of the various committees as follows: Miss Dorothy Morton, chairman of the reception committee; J. C. Smith, chairman of the music committee, and Misses Ruth Ryan and Ruth Spafford will be in charge of the refreshment committee. Other members of these committees will be announced later by the chairmen.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Frank Ayars, Mrs. E. L. Schuyler, Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson and Mrs. J. R. Case.

An admission of 25 cents will be charged all members and guests.

Studying Bible

Mrs. Lydia Haystack, Christian work director at the Glendale Presbyterian church, announces that the Thursday Morning Bible class will meet at 10 o'clock at the church. Study will be on the books of Thessalonians. All Glendale women are cordially invited to join the class.

St. Mark's Guild

Another summer social meeting of St. Mark's Guild will take place tomorrow afternoon in the Guild hall. Mrs. F. S. Card will be hostess and she is inviting all members to come and bring guests. An informal program will be given.

The regular weekly business luncheon will be served tomorrow by the Guild women at the Coker & Taylor store at 209 South Brand boulevard.

Entertains Girls

Miss Grace Crampton of 325 West Burnett street, was hostess last night to the members of the Girls' Friendly Society of St. Mark's Episcopal church.

A catered dinner was served to the seventeen members present, which was greatly enjoyed.

Following a short business session the evening was devoted to music and games.

Dinner in Park

Mrs. Nevin Albert of 327 California street, entertained a number of friends at Brookside park on Saturday with a delicious picnic dinner.

Those present were Miss Elsie Albert of Pueblo, Colorado, Mrs. Florence Bartles of Los Angeles, Mrs. Frederick A. Clark of Glendale and the hostess, Mrs. Nevin Albert, and sons, Warde and Frank.

Receives Class

The "Willing Workers" class of the Central Avenue Methodist church held a business and social meeting at the home of Mrs. C. A. Bowen, 212 West Garfield, Tuesday afternoon. Following the business session the social hour was enjoyed during which refreshments were served by the hostess. Mrs. Henry Pentacost is the president of the class.

Meet Thursday

The members of the Glendale Canadian Club will meet Thursday evening, July 19, at 8 o'clock at the K. P. Hall, corner of Brand boulevard and Park avenue.

An interesting program will be presented and punch and cake will be served during the evening by the ladies.

All Canadians are extended a cordial invitation to attend.

Sell Home and Auto Before Eastern Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hupke, who have sold their home on North Central avenue, are leaving today for New York city. Before leaving they purchased a lot on North Central near Kenneth Road, through the agency of Mrs. Stella Goodman, and upon their return will build a new home. Mr. Hupke also disposed of his automobile and made the trip east by train, but will return by motor in a new car, which he has already ordered. They will be absent about two months.

Driver of Car Aids Youth He Injures

Witnesses to the accident to "Jimmy" McClain, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James N. McClain, 1135 East California avenue, say that the driver of the car that hit the lad did not hurry on, but stopped and took the lad to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital. Witnesses did not know the name of the driver.

There are 80,000 automobiles in the streets of Paris.

THE GLENDALE

One of the stars in "Soul of the Beast," the Thomas H. Ince feature film now showing at the Glendale Theatre, eats ten pounds of dirt daily. This unusual accomplishment is achieved very nonchalantly indeed by "Oscar," the monstrous elephant who co-stars with Madge Bellamy in this production.

In addition to his large daily chief d'oeuvre of terra firma, Oscar consumes each twenty-four hours 1000 pounds of hay, five pounds of sugar and anything else that happens to be handy, a marvelous assortment of articles disappearing by means of that great vacuum-cleaner muzzle of his.

Oscar is a joy from the first scene of "Soul of the Beast" to the last, and little Madge Bellamy is an added bit of delight, the picture being one to appeal to young and old alike. It is better than a trip to the circus, for, in addition to all those features, it presents some marvelous sequences in the Canadian forests and tells a most pleasing love story of the Cinderella type.

OLD TIMERS ARE GIVEN PENSIONS

Veterans of Southern Pacific Service Retired After Many Years

Forty-one veteran railroad workers, whose combined service totals 1385 years and six months, recently were retired on pension by the Southern Pacific company, it was announced today.

These men have been in the employ of the company for periods ranging from twenty to forty-five years and six months. If one man could have lived long enough to perform the active work of these men it would have been necessary for him to have started in the year 539 before retiring at the present time.

John W. Wright, an engineer in the Sacramento Division, leads the list of these Southern Pacific men to join the "honor roll" of pensioners. He worked for forty-nine years and six months.

It was in August 12, 1873, that Mr. Wright began his railroad career as a wood watchman at Rocklin, where his home is now located. He later entered the train service and his first passenger run was on the second through passenger train to operate to Ogden.

Many Other Veterans
Seven others had been employed by the railroad for more than forty years, the second in point of service being John D. Saues, consulting engineer, whose interesting career covered a period of forty-eight years and three months.

Others having a record of forty years or more were Daniel C. Barnum, engineer on the Stockton Division; Archibald Stewart, ticket collector at San Francisco; John B. Lange, dock foreman at Algiers, Iowa; William Mountain, head boilermaker at West Oakland; Arthur M. Weston, conductor on Sacramento Division, and Daniel D. Rowland, engineer on Salt Lake Division.

The pension department of the Southern Pacific was founded January 1, 1903, and the total expenditure for pensions to March 31, 1923, was $4,739,425.24.

That's All

How Close Is New York?
Great Editor Passes On
Silly Fools And Sheiks
Goldfield Rises From Ruins
—By Gil A. Cowan—

HOW close is New York? Foolish question to ask here in Glendale, yet it was brought to the writer's attention when the Willard-Firpo fight pictures came from the Atlantic coast in four days.

Believe me, that's traveling! The Central Press Association, which serves this paper, started distribution of the pictures within eight hours after Willard had been knocked out last Thursday night. So on Friday morning the pictures were started westward to Glendale and other points served by this nationwide picture news organization. Tuesday morning they arrived in Glendale in time for reproduction in yesterday evening's edition of The Glendale Evening News.

Taking all things into consideration this newspaper with its International News Service leased wire, Central Press Association news pictures, and a score more feature services, is in a position to serve the community equally as good and a little better than any other daily newspaper.

"Sid Says" no more. His voice is stilled by death. John M. Siddall, editor of the American magazine, published in New York, has gone on the Great Adventure, for which he had no fear. Three months ago the doctors announced he might live a year if he were to give up his editorial work.

Instead he smashed into work harder than ever before, trying to accomplish as much on this earthly terrain as was possible before he would have to quit. Two weeks ago he wrote his last inspiring thought, he made ready for his interview with the Grim Reaper, and today he is being taken back to his boyhood home for burial.

Somewhat I always felt I knew "Sid," for he married "the girl across the street" from where we lived, when I was a little lad. And I always read what he wrote because of this intimate touch which, like other prize possessions of this earth, are merely loaned us.

John M. Siddall has been redeemed from this earth, a better and happier place for his having been here.

Rodolph Valentino will re-enter the movies, if he hasn't already, according to the press agent information being peddled about this living advertisement of what women's beauty parlors do for safe waiters.

Heaven forbid that he be welcomed back on the screen. There are enough silly women and sheiks for them in this world already. Valentino should stay in the dance halls or be sentenced to hard labor of playing "villain roles."

Also Francis X. Bushman is staging a "comeback" with Beverly Bayne in the movies and "speakeasies" combined. Another pair of immortal lovers who, like Rodolph and Winifred Hudnut, have made divorce courts notorious and lawyers wealthy.

Enough silly fools in this world to follow in their track without flaunting these sheiks in the face of the unsophisticated who are overwhelmed with a desire to have a sheik of their own. It is absolutely impossible for a decent man nowadays to run competition with the film lover who can dance and kiss and hug and squeeze and plead in passionate words written by a fat old title editor.

Glendale is hanging around through the summer at a great gait in its building program. Chances are a half million dollars in construction will be started this dull month of the year.

In our heyday of vigorous growth, however, we should think of less fortunate western cities and profit by their misfortune. Goldfield, Nev., fire, as described in copies of The Weekly News of that city, makes one shudder to think of the rapidity with which destruction may take place.

In less than four hours' time a business section similar to that of downtown Glendale was completely wiped out, only the Goldfield hotel and the News building standing today.

Yet in the issue of The News sent us by Mrs. V. L. Ricketts, widow of its former president and general manager, the people of Goldfield are going right to work and rebuilding their city.

Those who intended to move away are going to stay, the leading merchant is doing business at a news stand, the town's clothier is carrying a supply of hats on his head, while the druggist is carrying his stock around in a satchel.

Prohibitionists will get a deal of pleasure out of the information that the fire started in an alleged bootlegging establishment adjoining the Brown & Parker garage. And in the latter establishment fifty pounds of dynamite in a prospector's car exploded while a tourist drove his big machine right through the wooden doors of the building.

Two men lost their lives, a town lost its business section and more than one lost his shirt, but Goldfield hasn't lost its spirit, according to The News' accounts.

—Fight Brush Fire

Fire of an unknown origin broke out on the Hostetter ranch yesterday about noon. With the heavy breeze blowing from the east the fire fortunately was turned from the west end of La Crescenda; however, the flames leaping up the mountainside were distinctly discernible from the center of town.

Fire Chief Jennings Young answered the call, when the fire was first discovered; picking up volunteers on the way out. Men from all parts of the valley rushed to the scene of the conflagration and the fire warden from La Canada, Sunland and Tujunga assisted in fighting the flames. Fire Chief Young notified the Southern California Edison company, whose headquarters are at Pasadena, and they responded by sending truck loads of men out from that city adding to these workmen from Eagle Rock.

Between eighteen and twenty acres were burned over before the fire was under control, while the time consumed was between four and one-half and five hours.

Fire Chief Young is to be commended for the promptness with which he answers all calls at all times.

—Attend Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Card motored to Fillmore on Sunday to attend the home wedding of an old schoolmate of Mr. Card's, S. A. Wagner, who is teller in Farmers' & Merchants' bank of Fillmore.

Miss Laura Hutchinson and Mr. Wagner were married at noon and after the ceremony the wedding party, consisting of the family and twenty-six guests, drove to Ventura, where a delicious luncheon was served at the Pierpont.

The bridal couple returned to Los Angeles with the Cards, staying overnight in Los Angeles. They left Monday morning for a two weeks' honeymoon at Bear Valley, after which they will return to Fillmore to make their home.

Early Start Promised On Merced River Dam

SACRAMENTO, July 18.—Actual construction work on the Merced river dam for impounding waters for the Merced irrigation district will commence in the immediate future, it was announced today by State Engineer W. F. McClure.

McClure said that plans have also been approved for the construction of eighteen miles of roadbed for the Yosemite Valley railroad to replace that which will be submerged.

The cost of building the dam and rebuilding the railroad will be approximately $2,750,000, according to present estimates.

LEONARD IS FIT FOR TENDLER GO

Lightweight Champ Confident He Will Whip Southpaw Aspirant Monday

By MAX KASE
For International News Service
LANNERSVILLE, N. Y., July 18.—For a champion who is about to defend his title against admittedly the most dangerous contender, in a year that has seen the eclipse of a number of other champions, Benny Leonard today is unusually carefree and exuberant.

To say he is confident of the outcome of his bout with Lew Tendler at the Yankee stadium in New York next Monday would be superfluous. As well one might say the Woolworth building is tall, or some equally obvious fact.

"Of course I will win," Leonard said, and then explained his showing in his bout with the Philadelphia year ago.

"You know southpaws are very peculiar. But of all left-handers, Tendler is the easiest for me to avoid."

"I'll Beat Tendler"

"I have had a year's time to scheme out the tactics of this southpaw. I know how they all fight and I know how Tendler fights. Tendler is a good, strong fellow. He is no easy man to beat and will take plenty of punishment. But still I will beat him."

"I feel fine, better than I have felt in a long time. I am in great shape. Today I weigh 136 pounds and it won't be a difficult matter for me to make the prescribed weight of 135 pounds on the afternoon of the fight."

Leonard laughed when he was reminded that 1923 has been a "lucky" year for champions, as witnessed by the passing of Johnny Kilbane and Jimmy Wilde and loss of prestige by Jack Dempsey.

Will Not Retire

"Well, I've thought about that," he admitted. "But you can tell my friends that Leonard is one champion that will get by."

Leonard said he had no intention of retiring after the Tendler bout.

"Nothing of the sort," he said. "I am only starting. Why, I'm only a young kid yet."

He added he intended to engage in a vigorous campaign after the fight with Tendler, and possibly go over to England to do some fighting there.

TOURNAMENT FOR CHECKER SHARKS

Community Service Plans Series of Matches at School Grounds

A checker tournament will be run off this afternoon, on the Central avenue playgrounds, announces R. Ernest Tucker, executive secretary of the local Community Service organization, under whose auspices the event is being staged.

And tomorrow afternoon, at 3 o'clock, there will be a baseball game between the Glendale Union High school playground boys and the playground boys of the Cerritos avenue school, Mr. Tucker announces, the game to be played on the High school grounds.

Golf courses of six holes each have now been laid out on the grounds at the Central avenue school, Cerritos avenue school and High school, it is reported, and games are in progress each afternoon, under the auspices of Community Service.

Asks For Old Clubs

Boys and girls are both playing golf on these grounds and a call is sent out by Mr. Tucker for contributions of old clubs, so that a greater number may enjoy this healthful sport.

Among other forthcoming tournaments and games under the Community Service auspices is a croquet tournament and a series of baseball games for adults, to be played from 5:30 until 7 o'clock on week-day afternoons, on the Central avenue grounds.

Those interested in enrolling for positions on the baseball teams should communicate at once with Coach McMahers, on the grounds. This series of games, it is felt, will afford some much needed recreation for local business men.

Directors are now on the Central avenue and Cerritos avenue playgrounds from 1 until 6 o'clock each afternoon, and on the High school grounds from 1 o'clock in the afternoon until 9 o'clock at night.

Why Connie Smiles

Sport Snaps by JACK KEENE

Charley White and Carl Tremaine appear to be two of a kind. Each is a terrific hitter who looks like a champion when things are going well. Each has the habit of curling up when stung. White's trouble seems to be inability to think clearly when the going becomes rough. Tremaine becomes discouraged and ceases firing for that reason. Each is the hardest hitter in his class, but it is highly improbable that either will ever win a title.

The United States seems pretty well off as far as the Olympic games of 1924 are concerned.

The athletes already have a ship to take them over and back, they will have a hotel of their own in Paris to live in, and the recent college meets east and west have shown that the educational institutions have more promising athletes than ever before.

There is every reason to believe that the athletes who have shown such surprisingly good form this spring will be even better next year when the time comes to go abroad. America will have strength in events in which it has been weak in the past.

Javelin throwing has been developed on this side during the last season or two, and so has the discus throw. Athletes everywhere have been giving more attention to the long distance runs, a branch of sport which had been neglected here.

George Sisler, one of the great stars of baseball, is taking light practice daily with the object of getting back into baseball before the summer is over. Friends have tried to persuade the St. Louis star not to attempt a comeback this season, but he is determined to try.

"It will be the happiest day of my life," said Sisler the other day, "when I go up to that plate with the bat on my shoulder. My eyes are slowly regaining their strength; otherwise I feel as well as I ever did in my life."

St. Louis is taking the proposed comeback of the great first baseman with all seriousness. The fans have decided to make the day long to be remembered by both Sisler and the baseball public.

Tentative plans as announced to date are that Sisler will play his first game with the Browns on August 14. On that day the Yankees will play the first game of their series with the Browns.

Sisler was in a happy mood the other day as he went over his illness from the start to the present time.

"You can imagine how I felt last spring when the eyes grew dimmer and dimmer," said Sisler. "I was told that I was worrying too much and that the many sleepless nights I had were tearing down my physical condition."

"Is there any one who wouldn't lose sleep to run against what I did? The call for spring training was at hand, my trunk was packed, when, a few days before the time for my departure for the south, I contracted influenza. Had it stopped there I would have been all right. But it didn't. It left its sting right in my eyes and day by day I waited for everything to clear up and allow me to join the club."

"I am now convinced that I have passed the crisis. You should have seen me when the doctor removed those smoked glasses from my eyes and put them on his desk. He told me that I would not need them any more."

"Since discarding the glasses I have noticed the improvement in my sight. At the game the other day I could distinguish perfectly every move on the field. That's a true saying—a fellow doesn't appreciate sound health until it gets away from him."

"I am not going to push myself at all, but I figure that by taking it easy for two more months and then going through easy training, in the uniform for about two weeks I will be ready."

Connie Mack has spoken. Didn't say much. Didn't need to. That Chief McGillicuddy spoke at all is enough.

It was about his Athletics, of course. Said Connie: "My team is coming."

Which means that it has about arrived—that this quiet grimly smiling baseball wizard is ready to lead his team out of the bulrushes to oblivion after a nine-year tramp through the swamp.

Connie states frankly that he has a wholesome respect for the six pitching stars and for the Yankee sluggers, headed by the reformed Babe Ruth. The wise old owl reckons with Tris Speaker and his reconstructed club and Cobb's fighting Tigers. He even goes further and says that the Browns make the whole league tremble if George Sisler gets back into the game in the late weeks.

Give 'Em Time."

And then he says it takes two months of a season to place properly many teams. They need that long to find their stride.

All of which makes Connie's modest assertion that his team is "coming along" look good. It has found its stride, then, and that stride!

Everyone but Connie says they have a good chance to cop the pennant. If Connie thinks so he isn't putting it that strong. The fact is, however, that with the pitching, hitting and fielding he has brought together he is now endangering the hold of the Yanks. A disastrous slump by the New Yorkers and a spurt by the Browns could put them on top of the heap.

Mack, as the world knows, wrecked his old machine after 1914 campaign. Bit by bit he started reconstructing it. It was a long drill. He hired and fired ball players by the regiment. He robbed cradles (baseball ones), secured uncharted backwoods for material. Last year he seemed to have the team. And when he inserted Wid Matthews in center as the last "spark plug" the team began to hit on all six.

There is no doubt but what Matthews completed the team. He gave Mack a perfect outfield when McGowan. This trio has been snagging drives that ruined balls for his young kids for three or four seasons when they bounced, rolled or volplaned as doubles and triples. The three men in that Athletic outfield to-day rank with any in the league in defensive ability and are hitting as an outfield should.

With these rippers in the garden to back up Rommel, Hasty, Harris and Naylor pitching better than last year—and with a stronger defense they would have startled the league last year.

Same Old Connie

Connie is the Connie of the old. He wiggles his scorecard as he did when Bender, Plank and Combs were carrying his team on high. He pulls the same smile—which says a mouthful—when you ask him pessimistic questions.

Not even the warning that the turnstiles at Shibe park are getting worn out with the recent spinning after they rusted for years on the pin, worries him.

Everyone else around the park is for putting in new ones and oiling them well. For if you ask them and other close followers of Connie's Kids they'll tell you "Connie's team sure is coming—for it has almost arrived."

White-Mitchell Bout Will Furnish Thrills

NEW YORK, July 18.—Fistic lovers expect to see plenty of action tonight when Charlie White, the Chicago lightweight, and Ritchie Mitchell, the Milwaukee boxer, clash in a scheduled fifteen round bout.

The winner will be next in line to battle for the lightweight crown.

White said today he would win in five rounds. Mitchell, who arrived here yesterday from Milwaukee, was equally confident he would put out the Chicago boxer.

White-Mitchell Bout Will Furnish Thrills

NEW YORK, July 18.—Fistic lovers expect to see plenty of action tonight when Charlie White, the Chicago lightweight, and Ritchie Mitchell, the Milwaukee boxer, clash in a scheduled fifteen round bout.

The winner will be next in line to battle for the lightweight crown.

White said today he would win in five rounds. Mitchell, who arrived here yesterday from Milwaukee, was equally confident he would put out the Chicago boxer.

BOSTON, July 18.—The Reds took the measure of the Braves in the premier game of a double header here yesterday by a score of 4 to 3. The Reds connected safely nine times. The Braves pounded out eight hits. Each team made an error.

BROOKLYN, July 18.—The fourth inning of the Dodgers-Pirates game here yesterday was a large one for the Brooklyn outfit, and after scoring six runs in this session they romped on through a 6-to-2 victory. The Buccaneers wallowed Smith, Dodgers' slaban, for a total of ten safeties, but Smith succeeded in keeping them fairly well scattered.

B. E. Anderson and Doris Moyse are in charge of the arrangements, Gordon Bartow in charge of entries and John R. Case in charge of the program.

The committee met last night in the Chamber of Commerce building and completed plans for the affair tonight, and also outlined a program of events to take place later.

The program tomorrow night consists of the following contests: Thirty-yard dash for girls; thirty-yard dash for boys; tub race for boys; candle race for girls; diving for both boys and girls; back stroke race, thirty yards, for boys; back stroke race, thirty yards, for girls.

SEEK JURY IN DRY LAW TRIAL

Many Try to Avoid Serving
In Hearing of Charge
Against A. A. Baines

Selection of a jury occupied the entire morning session of City Judge F. H. Lowe's court this morning where A. A. Baines, shoe-maker of 312 East Broadway went on trial for alleged liquor law violations. The latter was represented by Attorneys O. V. Wilson of Los Angeles and R. A. Ramey of Glendale. The prosecution is in charge of City Attorney Ray Morrow and Assistant Leslie R. Tarr.

Numerous challenges for cause were given, it being evident that many did not wish to serve on a jury in a dry law case. They were excused for views on the prohibition statutes, as well as doubt of evidence which one man declared might be obtained by "trickery." This same juror gave cause for a snicker when he solemnly stated he was an "interior decorator."

When the jury box was finally filled at noon, peremptory challenges vacated eight seats, leaving four veniremen ready for the afternoon session which begins at 2 o'clock. This probably will necessitate a new panel being summoned and a delay in hearing the evidence until tomorrow.

William C. Page, proprietor of the store, states he is more than satisfied that The Glendale Evening News covers the field, not partially, but thoroughly, and tactically every advertisement in this paper brings a big new response of local buyers.

Harding and Party Return to Transport

glad to return to the comparative luxury of the naval transport Henderson after their excursion into the interior. Traveling in Alaska even via the government's railroad is no pleasure despite the fact the road boasts three Pullmans and one diner which functions occasionally. The Alaskan "flyer" averages fifteen miles an hour which is further slowed up by extensive precautions taken for safety's sake.

A typical incident of the Alaskan traveler occurred late last night as the Harding special returned to Seward. About fifty miles out near Spencer glacier, there is a steep grade and long tunnel.

Stalls In Tunnel
The train stalled in mid-tunnel because of the engine's inability to pull the train through and was forced to back out and divide the train, pulling through a steep upgrade for two miles and then returning for the president's private car.

President Harding feels that he has had a good look at the interior in his week's journey of over a thousand miles and interviewing scores of Alaskans of all walks of life.

Mrs. Harding, tired out, was glad to return to the Henderson to rest. The Henderson sails tonight or early Thursday morning for Cordova and Valdez where President Harding will take a look at the copper country.

British Note Ready To Give to Germany

Paris and were under investigation today.

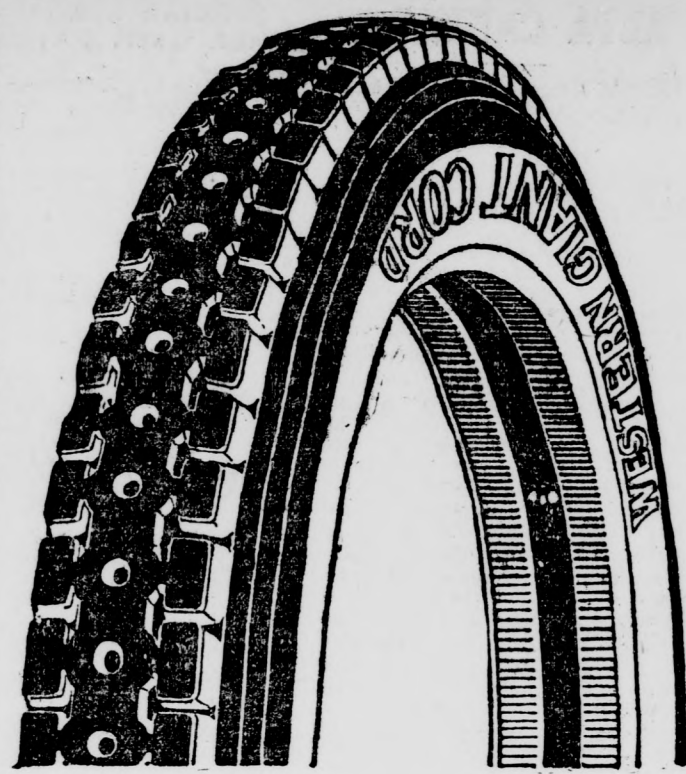

It was understood that Premier Baldwin planned to send copies of the note to Paris, Rome and Brussels at the same time he communicated the contents to the German ambassador. He is meeting with serious obstacles within the cabinet as the pro-French "die hards" have shown no sign of relenting.

A covering letter has been drawn up to accompany the formal note expressing Great Britain's views of passive resistance in the Ruhr.

It was understood that the note suggested that France should loosen her hold upon the Ruhr before she could expect the Germans to end their passive resistance against military occupation.

France Notified
PARIS, July 18.—France was informally notified today that the British reparations note will be received Friday. This note will outline the British reparations views and will seek to have the allied powers reply to the latest German reparations offer with a joint communication.

Misanthropic notions come from over-indulgence in egotistical grievances.

PLAN TO CHANGE DOG ORDINANCES

Tagged Canines Will Be Permitted on Leash and In Auto, Belief

motion of Councilman C. E. Kimlin, authorized to appoint a committee of eight, consisting of three representatives of the canine association, three who are not members of that organization and Ray Morrow, city attorney. It is probable the mayor will serve, too.

Against Humane Society
Discussion of the "dog question" opened last night when Edwin F. Kulp, representing the canine association, made a plea for the tentative ordinance submitted recently to the council by his organization. However, individual members of the council declared that they were opposed to the formation, at this time, of a Humane Society, as planned by the proposed ordinance, so consideration of the measure automatically ceased.

Then followed a general discussion of the dog question. Mayor Robinson soon left the council chamber, leaving Councilman Sam Davis to act as mayor. The vaccination question was brought up, but Acting Mayor Davis ruled it was not a part of the ordinance and, therefore, not open for argument.

"Softer" Ordinance
Alex Mitchell urged the council to "stop its foolishness" about the dogs and others in the audience suggested that the present restrictive measures be "softened" somewhat.

After many suggestions and after Councilman W. A. Horn declared that the council has had a new ordinance drawn and is prepared to act if the factions cannot get together, the decision was reached to have the committee of seven attempt to draft an ordinance that will, if possible, satisfy the general public.

In opposing the formation of the Humane Society, individual members of the council declared that the suggestion was a good one, but they believed that now was not the right time to form it.

AMATEUR SLEUTH PROBES MYSTERY

Reward Would Hasten Solution of Searchlight Puzzle, Detective Claims

The mystery of the flashing searchlight in the southern part of the city is growing deeper and deeper every night, and the business is gradually getting on the nerves of a lot of people who want to know what it's all about. A stranger from Saticoy blew into town yesterday and hunted up Col. J. D. Fraser, chief of police, to whom he made an offer to unravel the mystery if there was any chance of dragging down a reward. Col. Fraser asked him what experience he had had as an officer, and the stranger pulled back his coat, showed an immense star pinned on his gal- lasses, bearing the words "Special Investigator" and proudly replied: "Lots of it, mister. See that badge? Know where I got that? Well, I see an advertisement in the paper what says 'Send for bits and be a detective.' Well, I did, and I am."

Col. Fraser finally managed to get rid of the amateur sleuth, but the latter, when last seen, was still polishing up his shield and watching the southern horizon with keen attention. He is only one of the nuts who has been trying to catch the beam of light that has been flickering over Glendale for the last few evenings, and if something doesn't happen soon someone will go crazy.

COUNCIL MINUTES

The Council of the city of Glendale met in special meeting at the Council Chamber in the city hall of said city, at the hour of 7:30 p. m. of the above date, pursuant to a call for said meeting issued by the mayor and four members of the Council and on file with the city clerk.

Pursuant to the said call the following members of the Council were present at the place therein mentioned at the hour of 7:30 o'clock p. m.: Councilmen: Hall, Horn, Davis, Kimlin, Robinson.

Members of dog association and others assembled in the Council Chamber to discuss an ordinance regulating the keeping of dogs, cats and other animals. The dog association presented a tentative draft of an ordinance creating a Humane Animal commission, matter discussed to some length.

Moved by Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Davis, that the City Council do not favor the creation of a Humane Animal commission at this time. Vote as follows: Ayes, Hall, Horn, Davis, Kimlin, Robinson; Nays, none; absent, none.

The matter of a revision of ordinances Nos. 563 and 565 was then presented for discussion. On motion of Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Horn, it was so moved that the mayor appoint a committee of six persons who would work with the city attorney to draft the ordinance regulating the keeping of dogs, for presentation, after which a time for hearing would be set. Adjourned.

Sheiks for Servants!
Oh, Yes! First One Is Imported to U. S.

NEW YORK, July 18.—Girls, it's tough, but it has come to this—Sheiks for servants. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vernier of San Francisco and Paris arrived today on the Olympic from France and in their wake was a strange looking person in typical sheik garb.

"Not a notable," Mr. Vernier said; "just a servant I picked up in Morocco."

The sheik, who speaks French nicely, but English not so good, bowed majestically. The sheik was asked by immigration officers if he were a believer in polygamy.

"No, for me," he replied, when the question was explained. "But I think it all right for Sultans and such."

The Roy L. Kent Construction Company of 130 South Brand boulevard this week is completing the specifications for the depot and substation. These will be ready some time next week and bids will be called for immediately.

The station will be located on the west side of Glendale avenue between Wilson avenue and Broadway. It will be built of concrete building blocks from the Concrete Brick and Tile Company of 446 South San Fernando road and will have an ornamental front of oxtone and green concrete tile roof.

The size of the building will be fifty feet by sixty feet. On either side will be a series of fifteen feet in width. The central portion of the building, which will be twenty feet in width will be used by the Glendale and Montrose Railway Company.

The entrance will be recessed about ten feet. This will provide an outdoor waiting room. The indoor waiting room will be about twenty by fifteen and one-half feet in size. Behind it will be private office.

The substitution, which will be twenty by thirty feet in size, will be built of the same materials. It will be placed behind the station and will front on Howard street. The two buildings will represent an investment of about $15,000.

Many other attractive numbers are on the well-balanced and representative program, which is calculated to call the attention of thousands of people to the high type of cultural life to be found in Glendale.

100 Children In Hunt For Girl Lost Two Days

CARMEI, Cal., July 18.—"After many air-planes had failed in the search for 14 year old Ruth Cator, daughter of Thomas Vincent Cator, well known composer, a posse of 100 children today took up the search for the child who left a sick bed and wandered away two days ago.

Cator believes the girl may have been picked up by a passing motorist although police think the child may be in hiding.

In addition to the "child" searchers, 354 soldiers, members of the reserve officers training corps and a force of 250 civilians are beating every acre of land in this part of the Monterey peninsula in an effort to find the child.

Flood Threat Causes Anxiety in Colorado

PUEBLO, Colo., July 18.—Apprehension was expressed here today by observers over the steady rise of the Fountain river, which has steadily crept upward until the government gauge shows a stage of eleven feet.

Heavy rains followed by cloudbursts between Pinion and Buttes, twenty miles north of this city, caused the stream to rise rapidly, and at 8 o'clock water was pouring through the gorge in huge volumes.

Another rise of two feet, according to officials, will put the river out of its banks into the lowlands. The Fountain river is the stream, which, in conjunction with the Arkansas river, was responsible for the disastrous floods of three years ago which caused a heavy loss of life and property damage of more than a million dollars.

Masons To Meet For Ceremonial In Honor Of Harding

PREPARE FOR IMPRESSIVE SERVICES

Glendale Lodgemen to Take Part in Big Event at Hollywood

GLENDALE COMMANDERY NO. 53, Knights Templar, is making plans to attend in toto the parade and ceremonial in Hollywood the afternoon of August 2 in honor of President Warren G. Harding. Dr. H. V. Hogue of 102 East Broadway, commander of the local commandery, will have charge of Glendale's participation in the function. He stated that about 150 Knights will be in the line of march. He added that they would probably be accompanied by the Elks' thirty-piece band.

Following the parade, President Harding will join Marion Commandery No. 36, in which he is enrolled, in presenting the International Traveling Beausant to Commandery No. 56 of Hollywood.

The ceremony will take place in the Hollywood bowl commencing about 4:30 p. m. and will be witnessed by many thousands of Masons and their friends from all parts of southern California. Three hundred seats in the bowl have been reserved for Glendaleans.

"Beausant," according to Noah Webster, "is the black and white standard of the Knights Templar."

This particular beausant is a silken banner, two and a half feet wide by three and a half feet in length. The upper section contains a black field while the lower section has a white field upon which is a ritualistic symbol. The banner is suspended from a staff surmounted by a triangular ornament bearing on each of its three sides emblems of the Cyrene Preceptory. Attached to the staff are gold name-plates upon which is inscribed the name of each commandery having custody of the beausant.

World Pilgrimage
A pilgrimage around the world is now under way by the beausant. It was consecrated for its journey in Toronto, Canada. Its first stop was at Buffalo, New York. It was then taken to Philadelphia.

W. H. Reeves To Recall College Days To Hoover

The approaching visit of Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover to Glendale along with President Harding's party on August 3, has served to recall to City Manager Wm. H. Reeves the fact that he and Hoover were graduates of the class of 1895 at Stanford university, when the latter was managing the college athletic association and "Bill" Reeves was studying electrical engineering and wiring houses around Palo Alto on the side to learn the practical side of his profession.

City Manager Reeves is planning to cut in ahead of some of the committeemen who will be standing in line when the presidential party reaches Los Angeles and snatch a few minutes of Secretary Hoover's time to recall the old college days and to hold a session of the "Dye mind-the-time when" club, of which they both are charter members.

ART EXHIBIT AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

Works of Famous Portrait Painter Displayed for Picture Lovers

Another interesting exhibit is arranged for Glendaleans at the public library in the juvenile room, where a group of paintings by W. J. McCloskey of Los Angeles are being shown.

Art lovers of Glendale are particularly delighted with his portrait work, which they say is a talented portrayal of character.

It is of special interest to read the sketch of Mr. McCloskey's work given in "The Hollywood Legionnaire," the publication of the Hollywood Legion post.

The current number says:

McCloskey is famous. The post has just had delivered to it the portrait of Commander Harold G. Ferguson, first commander of the post. This picture was made in line with a policy of recording the history of the post by photographs and its commanders by portraits.

Mr. McCloskey is a portrait painter of international renown and has exhibited in all the greater salons—Paris, Royal Society, Academy of Design, New York. His work is of the school followed by Rembrandt and in this, his work is very unique as compared to the average painter of the day. Mr. McCloskey's work betrays a close study of his subject, a concentration of the personality behind the figure rather than the details of the face, but in this he does not forget that the finished portrait must pass close inspection in the detail of the work. The results are very life-like and pleasing.

Order Portrait
The post has already ordered the portrait of Past Commander Walter Long, who has promised to sit for the artist in the very near future. It is also expected that the present commander will have his portrait made to be posted in the club room just following his retirement. Mr. McCloskey also has displayed rare generosity to ward members of the post, offering to paint any Legionnaire for the same price that he has made the post for its commanders.

Among the more prominent men, nationally, that Mr. McCloskey has painted are the Hon. W. J. Patten, assistant to Mr. Hayes and an ex-congressman; General G. M. Dodge of the United States Army; J. O. Sheets, treasurer of the state of Pennsylvania. In southern California he has painted the portrait of George Wharton James, the novelist; Harris Newman, the father of many local grocery enterprises, and R. D. McLean, the great Shakespearean actor.

EXPERIENCES IN SECRET SERVICE

BY GIL A. COWAN

PRESIDENT HARDING will be guarded by secret service operatives, who accompany him everywhere on the tour of the country, when he visits Glendale, it is solemnly announced. He will have the pick of the police escorts. Ah, yes, presidents must be guarded even in the capitol city of Washington. And especially is this true in time of war.

All of which reminds the writer of experiences in the secret service.

Five years ago our post was that of top sergeant of the Washington detachment, Corps of Intelligence Police, Military Intelligence Division, General Staff, United States Army. In name it reminds one of the Monroe Centennial Anniversary and Motion Picture Industrial Exposition of Los Angeles. Sounds impressive; so.

Three Californians were in the army secret service work at Washington, the other two being Lloyd Myers of the firm of Twining & Myers, realtors, Glendale, and Glenn D. Willaman, of Los Angeles, managing director of the California Real Estate Association. Incidentally, we had a delightful time in showing the New York and Boston boys how to work the western way, Willaman establishing the record for investigations completed in any one week's time.

Lots of Experiences
In civilian clothes and authorized by the secretary of war to conduct investigations, also carry out counter-espionage and negative combat work in the ranks of the army as well as in all walks of life the experiences enjoyed by the little groups of secret service operatives in war time would fill many books. Only recently Lieut. Karl W. Detzer, who was in our service overseas, has been revealing any number of incidents and perhaps there is only one other man in the United States more informed as to the work of our organization in this country than myself. He wrote the histories of the Washington and New York detachments after the armistice was signed.

To revert to the president's bodyguard I am reminded of an incident occurring almost five years ago to the day. It was a known fact that any number of impostors were playing the role of army officers in Washington, working grafts, impressing officials with their importance and even endeavoring to spy on Uncle Sam's war plans. We had bulletins on these gentry and every one of our operatives had instructions to "interview" and detain, if necessary, anyone who appeared to be wearing the uniform illegally.

Refuses Explanation
On Pennsylvania avenue and Tenth street the writer noticed a man in officer's uniform without cap or insignia, his leather puttees badly scuffed and his uniform indicating work much different than the average "swivel chair" officer might endure. To me he was an enigma; perhaps an escaped inmate from St. Elizabeth's hospital. Certainly, he WAS to be "interviewed."

Asked for an explanation he insisted it was none of my business. He added he was in the "secret service" and could not be detained. But a major in the ordnance corps passing by at the time backed up the demand for an explanation and he defied arrest. It was necessary to go to the station nearby and get a police officer as it was not policy of our corps to go into court.

The patrolman assigned to the case was at. Within five minutes after deep water was reached the anglers began pulling in the fish. Rev. Millikan making the first haul.

Biting continued almost without interruption until 3 o'clock. J. N. McGillis scored the largest number, while N. J. Haynes carried off the honors for the largest fish caught—a twenty-five pound yellow tail. The largest catch by the lads was a seven pound barracuda by Wayne Phelps. With the exception of a few cases of seasickness, every one declared it was one of the happiest days of their lives.

The party was made up as follows: Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. McGillis, Mrs. Annie Ford, Rev. L. J. Millikan, Col. Charles S. Hamlin, John M. Green, George F. Newman, Ernest Spooner, James Kiniry, A. C. Smith and son Everett from Omaha, Roy and Frank Morton, Charles Marsh, LeRoy and Wayne Phelps.

How Come Guthrie and Tower to Show Up Two Times, Is Question

The photograph of Masons who attended last Saturday's beefsteak dinner at Verdugo park, under the auspices of the local Blue Lodge, continues to draw crowds in front of the south window of The Glendale Evening News offices, 139 South Brand boulevard.

Aside from the interest shown in the really fine picture, a baffling element of mystery is added, in the fact that A. W. Tower and Charles B. Guthrie each appear twice in the photograph, once at the left and once at the right.

How this can be is a puzzle that has not yet been solved by a large number of Glendaleans. Of course, the first thought is, "trick, phony," "double exposure" or something like that. But the camera-man solemnly swears he used no such subterfuge.

Haven't Got Doubles
Others claim Messrs Tower and Guthrie had "doubles." These genial Masons are emphatic in denying this allegation, however, and aver that each is himself in each pose.

Which brings the ponderer right around to the beginning of the perplexing mystery. Can one person be in two places at the same time? And can two persons be in four places at the identical moment? If one can, the other can, it is argued, not without a certain fine feeling for logic.

What is the answer? The News would be glad to be told!

C. C. To Greet New Members At Dinner Friday

Reservations keep on coming in to the complimentary dinner that is to be tendered on Friday night to the new members of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce who joined during the recent expansion campaign, and present indications show that the big dining hall in the Citizens' Building will be taxed to capacity to seat those who have announced their intention of being present.

The newcomers will be welcomed into the organization by Vice-President W. E. Hewitt, and the response will be made by Councilman W. A. Horn, while one of the features of the evening will be a board meeting that will give the new members an accurate idea of the manner in which the Chamber of Commerce business is transacted. An open forum meeting is also to form part of the program, and discussion of Chamber of Commerce problems will be invited.

Reception Is Planned For Church Members

New members who joined the Glendale Presbyterian church at the twilight communion service last Sunday are to be honored at a reception Thursday night from 8 till 10 o'clock in the church parlors.

Mrs. D. B. Pingree is chairman of the reception committee, which has arranged the entertainment program. Following the program refreshments will be served.

All members and friends of the church are invited to participate.

I. W. W. Admits Setting Fires in Many Towns

LOS ANGELES, July 18.—Spurred by the alleged confession at the Fullerton city jail of B. F. Padilla, 24-year-old I. W. W., that he had set a series of fires in Southern California recently, entailing a loss of $500,000, local authorities have opened a determined fight against radicals.

BUILDING IS TWO-THIRDS FINISHED

Delay in Steel Deliveries Postpones Final Work On Auditorium

GLENDALE Union high school's new $600,000 plant on the southeast corner of Broadway and Verdugo road is now two-thirds completed, according to George Metry, superintendent for the North Pacific Construction Company.

Delay in the delivery of steel during the first part of the year, has held back the progress on the central building which will house the auditorium. This building cannot be completed before about the first of October.

With the exception of one truss, practically all of the steel for this building is now in place. This truss will be riveted into place in about two weeks as soon as the concrete side walls have been built to a proper height. In three weeks the roof upon this building is scheduled for completion. The cement floor will not be laid until later.

Near Completion
The Science building, to the east of the central building, will be completed in about a week. With the exception of the painting of some of the interior woodwork, this building is ready for its furnishings at the present time.

The Practical Arts building and the connecting wing, to the west of the central building, are scheduled for completion in about three weeks. The last span of red tile roof is being fitted into place this week. With the exception of a stretch on the first floor of the connecting wing, all cement floors in the corridors and on the stairs are now ready for traffic. Corrugations embedded in the cement on the staircases, which are about six feet wide, will make it difficult for students to slip. The flooring has been installed in a

The boys' class of the Broadway Methodist Sunday school, taught by Mrs. N. J. SAVES STORIES ON SUNSET CLUB

Mrs. Zilpha A. Parker, Age 87, Shows Keen Interest In Newspaper Articles

There is one reader of The Glendale Evening News to whom the accounts of the Sunset club have proved so interesting that she has clipped them all out for her scrap book. This person is Mrs. Zilpha A. Parker of 426 West Harvard street, whose daughter, Mrs. B. O. Holbrook, yesterday disclosed the fact that Mrs. Parker is justly deserving of recognition for her interest in Glendale's old folks, for she is 87 years old herself and will be 88 November 27.

Mrs. Parker, who has now been enrolled in the club membership, is one of the club's most active members. Possessed of all her faculties she is an active member of the Holbrook household, and also is enrolled in the Women's Relief Corps and the Central Christian church.

In Civil War
Zilpha A. Farnham was born November 27, 1825, in Oswego, N. Y., where she lived for many years. She was married in Syracuse, N. Y., to Orlando Parker, who served as a captain in the marine corps during the Civil war. Later he was employed by the Goodrich Transportation company on the Great Lakes, and the family lived in Michigan.

Captain and Mrs. Parker had four children, three of whom are living. Mrs. Mary E. Merrill of Los Angeles, Edward E. Parker of Burlington, Wash., and Mrs. B. O. Holbrook of Glendale.

Grammar and a Lesson

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

Nathan Drede, at 45, sat in his corner of the Minders Jewelry store, twisted his face with the effort of holding a magnifying glass in his eye, and explored the intricacies of the timepieces which were brought to him for repair. Except for those boys who pressed their faces against the window and marveled at a man who could take a watch apart and put it together without having ever so many wheels and springs left over, there was no one in town to associate him with romance. Yet Nathan Drede had a love affair and was waiting in hope.

Twenty years before, when Nathan was fresh from college and filled with the importance of all he had learned, he and Martha Littleton planned to be married. There had never been any other girl for him but somehow with his experience in the university and a larger city, had come a critical sense of appraisal. There were things about Martha, little tricks of speech and manners, he would have changed. Nathan made the mistake of being condescending and Martha was quick to resent. The cause of the quarrel, had it not been so tragic to each, would have been funny. "Somehow it don't seem right," Martha had said of some little affair, and Nathan, with his superior smile, interrupted—

"Doesn't seem right," he said. "Don't seem right," the girl persisted, an angry flush speaking of a determination to have an end of this habit of correcting. "A person of course may say 'it don't if he wishes,'" Nathan started.

"And this person will. So will other persons and by and by the dictionary will say it. Nine out of ten persons say it and some people I know used to say it themselves before they went away to learn how to be high and mighty."

"It doesn't," persisted Nathan with what he believed to be a noble patience. "It don't," snapped Martha, and that was the quarrel. After that, Nathan tried a number of things. Then he purchased an interest in the jewelry store and did the repairing. Minders said he could be depended upon for good work and that it was a pity he was so quiet. Martha exhibited interest in her flowers, taught music and played the piano at the church socials. It was queer she never married.

No one, of course, knew of the time she gave in to her resolution enough to write him a note. "It don't seem possible," she challenged him in the wording—"that two persons can be as silly as we."

"You are right," Nathan answered. "It doesn't seem possible." She tore up the answer and vowed he would have to be the next to make an overture. And so the years passed and Nathan was 45 and Martha, at 40, passed the window where he worked every time she went to town for purchases.

One day Martha's watch, the one which he had given her when she graduated from high school, stopped.

"I've been expecting this," she said and she thought of Nathan, the only repairer in town. "Well, it's run twice as long as the guarantee."

One of the pupils took the watch to Nathan with a note from the owner.

"It don't seem possible," she wrote, "but presume it needs cleaning. It don't seem possible, but it has never needed attention before."

Nathan Drede read the note, then gave his attention to the watch. He remembered when it had been given to Martha, how pretty she looked in her graduating dress. A flood of recollections of high school days returned. Martha was still pretty. The watchmaker removed the glass, winked his eye fiercely to relieve the strained muscles, then smiled. She was a stubborn one, Martha, and so was he! They were both stubborn and foolish. Nathan sent the watch back by a messenger boy who delivered it with a note the jeweler had written.

"All it needed was cleaning," Nathan had written. "It don't seem possible, but it is still as good as new."

It had cost him something that "it don't," but in the surrender he was happy. No one who saw him bending over his work in his window could have guessed at the hopes in his heart.

"Nathan," Martha was facing him across the counter, "we have been foolish so long, it doesn't seem right to wait any longer. I say, 'Nathan,' she was contrite now and emphasizing every word, "it doesn't seem right."

"No," Nathan had risen quickly, "it don't, Martha, it don't." Minders' music teacher and watch repairer laughed with tears in their eyes and held hands over the counter where all the world might see.

To make delicious old-fashioned "frozen custard" ice cream, two cups of milk to four cups of thin cream must be used. To obtain this thin cream many housekeepers buy a 35-cent bottle (one gill) of heavy cream and thin this with milk so as to make four cups of "thin cream" of it. Put these four cups of thin cream on the ice to add later, after you have made and cooled the boiled custard.

To make the custard: Heat two cups of ordinary sweet milk in the top of your double boiler; when it is scalded, pour it at once over two egg yolks which you have previously beaten with a pinch of salt and one cup of granulated sugar. Return this mixture to the top of the double boiler, and cook over boiling water, stirring constantly. When it will "coat a spoon" (that is, cling to a spoon quite thickly) set the boiler-top on a bowl of cold water at once. If it is allowed to cook a minute or so longer it is apt to curdle. Let cool, and when cold add to it the four cups of thin cream which you previously put on the ice, and also add three teaspoons of vanilla extract.

Freeze as follows: Make sure the freezer-can is clean. Pour the ice cream mixture into it, place on the cover, fit the cross-piece (with handle) into cover, and stand freezer-can in its wooden pail (I assume that you are using the customary eight-minute ice cream freezer). Now chip up enough ice to fill a quart measure three times, heaping it up well each time. Put this ice into a dishpan and add to it one quart of rock salt. Mix well, turn this salt-and-ice mixture into the freezer pail around the closed can.

Pack down well. The ice need rise no further than the ice-cream liquid rises inside the freezer-can. The above recipe will fill the freezer-can half full, therefore the ice and salt need not come to the top of the pail—it must simply rise more than half way up around the can.

The next step is to begin turning the crank—slowly at first, then more swiftly. Do not pour off the water made by the ice melting. This water is the chief agent in freezing the ice cream. But at the end of the eight min-

Young neighbor on having been elected president of her home town civic club, an organization noted for its worthwhile achievements.

"I hope I'll be able to fill the position gracefully," she said. "I don't worry so much about the civic work, for there are some splendid women with plenty of experience whom I can rely upon to put over the big things. What I am most concerned with is the avoidance of friction in my relations with the other officers. Tell me," turning to the elderly woman who had been listening with a quiet smile, "you have a reputation for tact, how did you manage when you were in club work? Can you give me some road rules, some leaves from your book of experience?"

Easier to Take Some Blame
"It's nice of you to suggest that I might be helpful, my dear," said the older woman. "Youth is not often so open to suggestion from the older generation. But, since you ask—well, I do remember one little trick that I think served better than almost any other to oil troubled waters. And that was taking on myself blame for things."

An enormous amount has been written on the subject of whether a woman should or should not use perfume, some talking about the charm of an illusive odor, and others saying that the "sweet breath of cleanliness" is the most desirable of all. Meantime the perfume manufacturers go straight on enlarging their plants.

There is a charm to perfume if it is fragrant and faint, but the more delicately illusive the odor the more expensive the perfumery. Not everyone can afford a subtle faint fragrance. Therefore, if you cannot afford the best extracts, purchase a small amount of cheaper grades and use it indirectly.

That last sentence requires explanation. Perfume in the bath water will give you, and every garment you put on, that faintly "illusive" fragrance which is so much desired, or a perfumed bath powder will have the same effect. Another, and the most inexpensive, way to achieve the same result is to purchase a small amount of a very good quality sachet powder and to make up dozens of little sachets and spread them among your clothes.

A really good extract costs $5 an ounce and more. Even if a drop is used on the handkerchief or on the face it is still an expensive habit. A little sachet powder of the same grade would cost $10 and, made up in little bags, it would perfume your clothes for more than a year.

You can, by the way, make a year's supply of bath powder by mixing in an ounce or so of expensive sachet in a couple of pounds of plain powdered starch. Nothing is so soothing and cooling as this, for it has a fine silkiness which is quieting to even the most irritated skin. Do not buy expensive perfumed soaps, for the perfume here is wasted.

THE THYMUS GLAND

This morning on which I write there is a report in the general news section of a New York paper of the spectacular saving of a baby's life by the application of the X-ray to its thymus gland.

The report states that the baby was three days old, was apparently normal at birth, but two days later ceased breathing. She was rushed to an infirmary, where artificial respiration was applied through oxygen. She began to breathe again but ceased when the oxygen was shut off. The artificial respiration was continued for twenty-four hours, in which time an X-ray picture was made. This disclosed that the thymus gland was so enlarged it was obstructing the breathing.

X-ray treatment was applied to the gland and the baby recovered.

At a recent children's clinic which I attended in New York, there were several babies and children exhibited who had recovered normal breathing by the use of the X-ray on their enlarged thymus gland, so the story in this morning's paper may have a large element of truth in it.

The thymus gland is a large gland of embryonic and infant life, situated in the chest right over the trachea (windpipe). In man, this gland attains its greatest size soon after birth; after the second holier-than-thou attitude, we can find it in our hearts to excuse and overlook some of the small slips. We will be surer of smooth sailing and happier relations with our fellow workers.

And, by the way, although our modest old lady called it laziness, in the preferred to shoulder the blame rather than get into a controversy, I believe that her real motive was more worthy than that. "A gentleman," says Cardinal Newman, "is one who will not willingly give pain to another."

Our little old lady is inherently a gentlewoman. That, after all, is doubtless the real secret of her successful leadership.

Tomorrow—Woman's Compensation.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My sister is going with a young man who treats her very impolitely. I think. Frankly speaking, I detest him.

She met him about a year ago. He soon left for California from which place he wrote her several times. Then he was taken sick and she did not hear from him at all.

About six months later he came back home. He did not let her know that he was in town until about two months ago. From then on he has been coming for her to go out riding with him.

One day his mother came up and she told my mother that her son was lonesome and that was why he came to see my sister. I thought this very impolite.

The last thing which he has done happened today. He came for her to go out riding about supper time. Instead of getting out of the car to come into the house, he told my little sister to call her. I think this was very rude to say the least.

My sister has told me she will not marry this boy, but because he has a car she likes to ride with him as she is closed in the office most of the time. She has very high ideals and it is beyond my understanding why she will stand for that sort of thing. Possibly I have no right to say anything, as she is older than I.

His parents helped my father and brother to get a job, but I do not think this ought to give them any grounds on my sister whatever. He has a sister in school with me and nearly all the time she would not speak to me unless I spoke first. Very often she passed me by without a word and one day she did this when I was with my mother.

I am perfectly sincere in this matter although my mother and sister think I am jealous and that with every boy I would do the same thing. I can truthfully say, however, that I would like to see my sister marry a nice man because she means very much to me.

SLIM HANDS.
You are splitting hairs in the matter of politeness. Of course, courtesy is a great thing and attractive manners are most desirable, but they are not everything, and if the young man appeals to your sister it would be very foolish for her to give him up simply because he does not go up to the door for her when he calls to take her riding. Of course he ought to go to the door, but perhaps he doesn't know it and would feel very badly if he realized he had been rude.

Probably the young man's mother was merely tactless when she said her son was lonesome and went with your sister because of that. There are a number of other girls with whom he could relieve his loneliness. It is evident that your sister interests him.

Naturally you resent the way you are treated by the sister. It may be, however, that you are a bit haughty in your manner toward her and she realizes you do not like her any too well and you "detest" her brother. Don't wait to see who speaks first. If you are pleasant and speak first you have shown your good breeding and need not worry about what she does.

Don't take your sister's affairs so much to heart. She has a right to make her own choice and you ought not to be so free to express your disapproval. Some day you will want freedom in your choice of friends and it will be most annoying to you if your sister interferes.

REQUIESCAT
Strew on her roses, roses,
And never a spray of yew.
In quiet she reposes;
Ah, would that I did, too.

Her mirth the world required;
She bathed it in smiles of glee.
But her heart was tired, tired,
And now they let her be.

Her life was turning, turning,
In mazes of heat and sound.
But for peace her soul was yearning,
And now peace laps her round.

Her cabin'd, ample spirit,
It flutter'd and fall'd for breath,
Tonight it doth inherit
The vasty hall of death.

TODAY—West Fights Express Rates; California Wants Reduction; Say Companies Profit Heavily.
TOMORROW—The Strangest Beauty Test; the Youngest 75-Years-Old; by Guglielmo Emanuel, Rome correspondent.

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
For International News Service

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—The saving of $1,000,000 or more a year to California shippers is the aim of the California state railroad commission in fighting the nationally important express rate case.

Refusal of the commission to make the 13 1-2 per cent express rate increase effective in California has been saving the shippers of the state that sum since 1920, statisticians of the commission estimated recently.

Certain California industries are suffering as the result of high express rates, while many shipments that should go by express are being sent by freight, the commission declares in its brief. The express rate case, recently forwarded to the Interstate commerce commission at Washington.

Not only is a great amount of California products that should be shipped by express being diverted to freight lines, but certain California industries find it impossible to continue shipping their products, since the door has been closed to them by high express rates, the brief, which was prepared by Hugh Gordon, chief counsel of the commission, points out.

Gordon prepared this brief not only for the California railroad commission, but as chief counsel for all the western states, which have joined with California in asking the Interstate commerce commission to lower express rates, or at least not to advance the rates.

California, Oregon and Washington, which comprise the fifth zone of the five zones into which the country is divided in the fixing of express rates, have also joined together specifically to oppose the threatened raise in express rates, and to ask the Interstate commerce commission to place in effect a lower schedule, as compared with the rates in Zones Nos. 1 and 2. These zones comprise the states east of the Mississippi, north of the Potomac and Ohio rivers, and south of the Potomac and Ohio rivers, respectively.

The brief declares that the express business in the Pacific coast states is 20 per cent more profitable than that in the North Atlantic states, yielding a higher return per shipment, and costing less per shipment than in the eastern states; that the western states express business is 23 per cent more profitable than the eastern states business and 16 per cent more profitable than the southern states express business.

It is asserted that if the present rates are retained by the Interstate commerce commission it will result in a revenue to the express company producing more than a fair return on its investment, after paying adequate compensation to the railroad for the express privilege.

The improved condition of the country the last half of 1922 and the first half of 1923 is called to the attention of the federal body. The point is also emphasized that high transportation costs will result in the termination of the business of shipping many California commodities by express, especially eggs and poultry products, cherries and berries. That such shipments will cease entirely unless express rates are lowered is possible, economically to ship these products are made available is asserted in the state's brief.

"Grandmother and grandfather," cried the twins, "you should go take a swim! It's bully fun, though the water is cold."

"How many times have I told you children not to say 'bully'?" corrected their mother.

"I know, but why not?" It is such a dandy word to use. "Don't say dandy either! I do not wish you to use slang. And all the words you children seem to use lately belong to that class."

"Oh, cheese it, mother!" spoke up one of the twins. "All the other fellows use it."

"We can't go around like little muttonheads, saying, 'The water was very cold, dear grandmother, and you better not go in,'" said the other twin.

"But why go so far? You didn't mention any place in particular when you spoke of a long journey, and I thought you meant a trip just around here, or up to St. Paul," replied his wife Nannie.

"What would I want to go on a trip around here for? There is nothing new to see. I can shut my eyes and see everything there is to see about here in my imagination. What I want when I take a trip is to see some new things."

"But I am too old to go so far," remonstrated Nannie.

"There I told you you were letting yourself grow old, poking around the farm year after year and never seeing anything but the same old houses and trees and fields and hills. No, no, my dear!"

"Fuller & Co., at least made the haul of fame."

But he got no further, for Billy lowered his head to give the youngster a butt. Such impertinence was more than he could stand. The twins saw him, however, and skipped away as fast as their legs could carry them. One of Grandfather Billy's butts was a thing long to be remembered by the sore spot in one's side.

"Well, Billy and Daisy, I have a great surprise for you," said Billy. "Mother and I are going to leave the farm tomorrow for a long trip. We will probably be gone for a year or more."

"Oh, Billy, not so long as that," gasped Nannie.

RADIO

BY FRANK CHAPMAN

CARE OF SET

During the summer months, due to so much outdoor sport and pleasure, the radio set at home may be neglected. A few precautions will keep your outfit in excellent condition. First, if your set is bulky and not adapted for portability and you are away part of the summer, it would be well to thoroughly clean the set up by removing all dirt and dust from the inside, disconnect your A and B batteries, remove tubes from sockets and put in a safe place, cover the entire set with a sheet or other material. If you are using storage batteries, the battery should be fully charged and the electrolyte (solution) drawn off and placed in a demijohn and sealed. The battery should then be filled with pure water and charged again. When you return home the water should be drained off, the electrolyte returned and the battery recharged. If there isn't enough electrolyte to fill the cells, put an equal amount in each cell and pour pure distilled water in until it covers the plates. The aerial should be taken down and gone over for loose connections and dirty insulators. The pulleys should be greased and painted, as also the spreaders and masts. Where the aerial is not taken down, it should be grounded through the lightning switch as a protection to the home.

Some fans think that, once bought or built, the radio set requires no attention, but, like an automobile, it does require touching up occasionally to keep in tip-top condition. For no apparent reason, connections become loose. A battery connections become dirty and dust accumulates in various places, causing reduction in signal strength or loss of them entirely. When a set has been working satisfactorily and gradually goes bad it is most likely due to poor connections developing, and it is up to you to locate and remove them.

Dust very often lodges on the plate of variable condensers, causing a short circuit as they are moved. This especially where the spacing between plates is narrow. This type of condenser should be kept free from dust and, where practicable, covered up.

In every-day operation the entire set should receive good care. Such things as dropping the telephones, taking off ear pieces, tapping the diaphragms and the like should not be done. There is nothing to get out of order in telephones, no moving parts requiring adjustment. So let the telephone remain as when purchased. Some makes of filament rheostats acquire a greenish deposit between the moving contact and the wire. This should be removed as this will cause undesirable noises in the set and cause the lights to flicker. The switch contacts should be kept clean and smooth, but do not put oil on them to make them work easier. Oil offers high resistance to the incoming signals and may kill weak ones. The prongs of the vacuum tubes should be cleaned occasionally, as should the contacts in the socket. Sometimes one of the spring contacts in the socket becomes weak and does not make good contact with the prong of the tube. These contacts should be pulled up so as to have greater tension.

When making any wiring changes in the set it is advisable to first remove all the vacuum tubes, as the filament leads might accidentally get tangled up in the B battery leads and a bright flash will mean a burned out tube.

Where the aerial is not taken down, it should be grounded through the lightning switch as a protection to the home.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S WRINKLED COAT
"Will you be all peppy to go to the party with me this evening, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy one afternoon, as she saw the bunny rabbit gentleman sitting on the front porch of his hollow stump bungalow.

"Party? What party?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Oh, have you forgotten so soon?" exclaimed the muskrat lady housekeeper. "Why, Aunt Lettie, the lady goat, invited you and me over this evening. We are going to the moving pictures together, and when we get back to Aunt Lettie's house there is to be a little party—with peanuts, ice cream, lemonade and all things like that."

"Dear me! I'm afraid I had forgotten about it," said Uncle Wiggily. "Is Uncle Butter going?"

"Of course, the goat gentleman will be there," laughed Nurse Jane. "It would be a queer thing for him to stay away from his own wife's party."

"I have known it to be done," said Uncle Wiggily in a low voice. "However, Nurse Jane, I'll be ready when you are."

"And don't forget to wear your best coat," went on Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "You must look proper at the party."

Then Nurse Jane hopped down to the eight and nine cent store to get some new keys for the piano, and Uncle Wiggily, after twinkling his pink nose a bit, said:

"Well, if I am to go to the party I had better see about my coat. It's hanging in my closet." He arose and went inside the hollow stump bungalow. But when he took from the closet the coat it was all wrinkled and creased like a last year's apple that has been playing hide-and-go-seek down cellar with the potatoes.

"Dear me, I never can wear that coat, with all the wrinkles in," said the bunny uncle. "I must have them ironed and pressed out. I had better send it to the tailor bear gentleman."

But when Uncle Wiggily looked at the clock he saw there would be no time to send his wrinkled coat to the bear tailor and get it back before he would want to go to the party with Nurse Jane.

"What shall I do?" wondered Uncle Wiggily. He thought for a moment and then he said: "Ah, I have a good idea! I will iron the wrinkles out of the coat myself. I'll put one of Nurse Jane's irons on the fire to get warm, and I'll be my own tailor."

While the smoothing iron was heating, Uncle Wiggily spread his coat out on the ironing board, which he laid across the backs of two chairs. Then with a damp rag, so he wouldn't make the coat look shiny, and with a pad of cloth for a holder so he wouldn't burn his paws on the iron handle, the bunny was ready.

"Now to press the wrinkles from my coat!" he exclaimed. He lifted the hot iron from the fire and he was carefully smoothing out his coat when, all of a sudden, into the kitchen sprang the Fuzzy Fox.

"Hello!" cried Uncle Wiggily, trying to be jolly. "Did you come to have your wrinkled coat made smooth?" he asked.

"No!" crossly growled the Fox. "I came to nibble your ears."

"Oh, just a moment, if you please," spoke the bunny as politely as a telephone girl when she accidentally gives the wrong number. "Will you kindly wait until I finish pressing my coat?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Yes, but be quick about it!" barked the Fox.

Uncle Wiggily put back on the stove the iron he had been using. It was getting cold. Then the bunny gentleman took off the fire a much hotter smoothing iron.

But instead of rubbing the iron over his wrinkled coat, Uncle Wiggily suddenly set the iron down on the tail of the Fox, as the bad chap's tail rested in one of the iron board chairs.

"Ouch! Ouchie! Wow! What are you doing?" howled the Fox. "Oh, excuse it, please!" asked Uncle Wiggily, trying not to laugh. "My mistake! I put the iron in the wrong place. But your tail is so crinkly I had better iron it smooth!"

"Don't you dare put that hot iron on my tail again!" howled the Fox. And for fear the bunny gentleman would do this, the Fox jumped out of the window and away he ran, howling: "Oh, my tail! Oh, my tail!"

"Well, now I think I can finish pressing my coat," laughed Uncle Wiggily. And when his coat was smooth he and Nurse Jane went to the movies and, afterward, to Aunt Lettie's little party, and they had some jolly good fun.

Now if the blue bird doesn't turn into a lobster when he tries to go swimming in the red ink I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily putting in the coal.

DINNER STORIES
They are telling in Moscow a good story of a professor who sat in the best restaurant guzzling away regardless of expense. "How can you gorge yourself like that," asked a friend, "when so many millions are starving on the Volga?"

The profiteer took his knife from his mouth. "Steady on," he protested, "you know what Soviet millions are."—London Daily Express.

It is always a pleasant moment for us when some New optimist swims into our midst and we can tell our readers about him, says the Boston Transcript. Here is the latest specimen of the genus: He had purchased a new home in the suburbs and within a week after he and his wife had moved in they received nasal evidence that to the west of them lay a glue factory, to the south a gas works, and to the east a highly odoriferous pigsty. To his complaining spouse said the optimist soothingly: "Of course, dear, it is a little unpleasant at times, but you must admit our location is not without its advantages. At least, we don't have to buy a weather vane to tell which way the wind is blowing."

A tramp knocked at a kitchen door and said: "Please, kind lady, I'm a sick man. The doctor gimme this medicine, but I need something to take it with."

The woman was ready to help. "Poor fellow," she said, "do you want a spoon and a glass of water?"

"No, mum. I wouldn't trouble you, but this medicine haster be took after meals. Have you got a meal handy?"—Judge.

A certain city editor of a Kansas newspaper desired to turn the spotlight of fame upon himself. To do so he decided to emulate the policies of those well-known journals which are designated "yellow." He waited until the time was ripe. One day a murder occurred in Kansas City which attracted a great deal of attention. It gave him his chance. He called in a carpenter to make him extra headlines—nothing smaller than a foot. Bubbling over with exultation, he took them up to the managing editor, expecting not only his O. K. but an enthusiastic word of commendation. The managing editor looked at them and nodded.

"Yes," he said, "marvelous, my dear fellow. Most striking. But," he went on, "I rather hoped to keep these for the second coming of the Lord."

A young man, springing into an overcrowded moving train, trod on the toes of an old gentleman in a corner seat. "I'm very sorry," he said.

Old gentleman (hand behind ear): "Eh?"

Young man (more loudly): "I beg your pardon."

Old gentleman: "Eh-h-h?"

Young man (shouting): "I trod on your foot. It was an accident—an accident."

Old gentleman (catching last word only): "An accident! You don't say so! Anybody hurt?"

"Titt-Bits (London)."

TUJUNGA

QUARTER MILLION IN BANK ASSETS

Growth of Business Likely to Compel Increase of Capital Stock

The general prosperity of the community is expressed in the report of the Tujunga Valley bank for the period ending June 30, 1923. The growth this year is at a greater rate than last and the report shows a steady gain, with commercial accounts totaling $168,504.85, and savings accounts to the amount of $85,521.42, making a combined total of $254,026.27.

This amount is close to the limit of deposits allowed on the present capitalization and the directors are considering the issuance of more stock to provide for the rapid growth of the institution.

Two men have been added to the staff to handle the increase in business, P. P. Correll of Tujunga and H. E. Evans. Mr. Evans was formerly connected with the Farmers' and Merchants' National bank of Los Angeles.

Burns Are Healing
Mrs. Paul Hirsch, who was badly burned about the hands and arms in the recent fire which destroyed the building used for dyeing and cleaning, is recovering from the burns and states that the plant will be rebuilt at once. In the meantime, all work is being done as usual at the store and pressing plant. Dr. E. M. Spates treated the burns and they are healing nicely.

A picnic was recently given at the Garden of the Moon by Mrs. J. C. Graham and Mrs. J. B. Johnson. Their guests included Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Barton and family of El Paso, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Bonner, Mrs. Wood, Mr. Kramer of Sawtelle, Mrs. Moorehouse and son and Miss Marjorie Lewis.

Window frames are in place but sashes have not been installed. Much of the interior woodwork is ready for painting.

Both interior and exterior of this portion of the plant has received its final coat of plaster. This is gray on the outside and white on the inside—which makes the interior quite light.

Much of the wiring has been completed and a large portion of the plant is ready for the installation of electric fixtures and telephone equipment. Classrooms are ready for blackboards and in some cases for their desks.

$11,000 PLEDGED FOR CLUBHOUSE

Nucleus of $100,000 Fund
Is Started by Members Of Sunset Canyon

A new clubhouse is to be built at the Sunset Canyon Country club in the near future, at a cost of $100,000, a recent meeting at which seventy-eight members were present having produced $11,000 in pledges toward the project. The pledges were made in support of a plan outlined by Mr. Covington, chairman of the building committee, and constitute a two-year loan, bearing 7 per cent interest and payable 40 per cent immediately and the balance in six equal monthly installments of 10 per cent, certificates of indebtedness to be issued by the club in donations of $100 each, to cover the loans.

Of the pledges made, two were for $500, one for $400 and most of the balance in $100 lots.

The meeting was in response to special invitations sent out and is the first of a series of weekly meetings, each of a similar nature, to be continued until the entire membership has been brought together in groups and given the opportunity to pledge funds for the new clubhouse.

A check signed by President W. J. Riley and Treasurer J. C. Isambert of the Chamber of Commerce has been given to cover the last penny of outstanding indebtedness, past or present, and the organization is now in financially sound condition, with a balance in the bank and $900 due.

ENTIRE FILIPINO CABINET RESIGNS

Governor General Calls
Quezon's 'Supreme Bluff'
By Acceptance

MANILA, July 18.—The entire Philippine cabinet and council of state formally resigned shortly before midnight Tuesday. Governor-General Leonard Wood immediately accepted the resignations.

The cabinet members, led by Manuel Quezon, political leader, filed into the governor-general's office and Quezon read their joint resignations in dramatic fashion. The resigning cabinet members were taken by surprise at Governor Wood's prompt acceptance.

When Governor Wood ceased speaking, Quezon's face paled and the other secretaries visibly showed their surprise at the failure of what many believe to be Quezon's "supreme bluff."

Secretary of the Interior Laurel wept. No question remained as to who was the chief executive of the Philippines. Governor Wood looked the part, and those who saw the incident recalled his lifelong friendship and association with Theodore Roosevelt.

Quezon immediately made the following statement: "This means a definite break and henceforth no Filipino of any party whatever can be expected to co-operate with Governor Wood." The under-secretaries automatically assume the vacated posts.

Secretaries to Serve
MANILA, July 18.—The sub-secretaries of the various cabinet officers, who resigned in a body as protest against what they alleged was undue interference on the part of Governor-General Wood with the conduct of their offices, met today and agreed to serve.

It is feared, however, that Manuel Quezon, president of the senate and leader of the disaffection against Governor Wood, will bring pressure to bear on the sub-secretaries with a view of having all Filipino government employees resign in accordance with his policy of non-cooperation. Quezon today cabled his side of the "break" to President Harding.

The Filipino public appears apathetic over the incident. The native papers are calm in their comment and caution the people against demonstrations.

EAGLE ROCK

SUGGEST PLANS TO FURTHER CITY

Hold Two Meetings Where Development Work Is Under Discussion

Two important gatherings last night marked July 17 as a significant date in local history. At the City Hall was held the first membership meeting of the reorganized Chamber of Commerce, when members met their officers and board of directors, heard reports of committees and made suggestions for the development of the community; while at the Central school a meeting of the Improvement Association took place, several important civic topics being discussed and a delightful program of music and readings given.

President H. M. Bruce presided over the meeting of the Improvement Association, introducing Captain Hief, of the Los Angeles Police department, who spoke constructively from his wide experience.

Varied Program
Little Miss Evelyn Nair, well-known locally, rendered a delightful dance, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. A. R. Rose; Mr. and Mrs. Edson Clapp sang a duet; Edson Crosby, who recently played for the Times radio, gave a selection on the bells; Mrs. F. M. Brock rendered a humorous reading about California, and Mrs. John A. Davis talked of women's attitude toward the polls.

Among the topics discussed were the school situation and the matter of a community playhouse. It was announced by Mrs. F. M. Runge, chairman of the program committee, that the Improvement Association is in need of four more vice-presidents, one for each of precincts Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4, respectively. Mrs. Runge is vice-president representing precinct No. 5 and C. H. Griffin is vice-president representing precinct No. 6.

Social and Personal
Sarah Brown, of Baton Rouge, La., said to be the world's youngest professional toe-dancer, who appeared at a local theatre recently, has been the guest of Mrs. W. J. Roach.

Mrs. M. B. Tempest and son, Don Tempest, who have been visiting with Mrs. C. A. Bruch, 2355 Palm avenue, are now spending a few days at Hermosa Beach. They plan to return to their home in Alameda in a few days.

Miss Reba Stevens, daughter of the local decorator of note, will enter Franklin high school in the fall.

At Catalina Island
Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Shaffer, from Shattuck, Okla., with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ives, from Bloomington, Ill., who are renting the home of W. A. Feaster, on Loy lane, spent the week-end at Catalina Island.

Mrs. Alma Lawson and daughter, of Chicago, are visiting with Mrs. McLeod, 132 Eddy avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence T. Boykin and family are spending the summer at the L. A. Hutchins home, 162 Paloma avenue, during the latter's absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Kyle D. Palmer, of 246 North Satsuma avenue, were the guests of Governor and Mrs. Friend W. Richardson at dinner in Long Beach, on Saturday of last week.

adephia. With an escort of over 300 swords and a band it was next taken to Washington, D. C. From there it was taken with an escort of 200 swords to Marion, Ohio.

Official duties at the national capital prevented President Harding from being present when his commandery received the beautiful. His first direct participation in ceremonies incident to the pilgrimage will be when the Marion commandery delivers it into the custody of the Hollywood commandery.

Summon Conclave
The Grand Commandery of California is honoring the occasion by convening a grand conclave in Hollywood. It has issued instruction to all of the commanderies under its jurisdiction to send official representatives. Commanderies will attend in force from many communities of southern California.

All Knights will be in full uniform and many of the commanderies will be accompanied by military bands.
